Gorgeous Gown Prepared for the Most Popular Girl

ONE of these girls is going to be Queen of Frankford. The week of festivities in connection with the opening of the "L" will reach its climax in the coronation ceremonies.

Ballots are being cast for these candidates and the most popular girl will be crowned on November 15.

The Queen's costume has already been designed, but not fitted. The gown is to be made of imported duchess satin, entirely covered with silver-embroidered, hand-made gauze and edged with pearls and brilliants.

The robe will be of silver cloth trimmed with ermine.

Other fitting costumes have been designed for the Queen's lady-in-waiting, who will be the girls receiving the six next highest votes.
